IDENTIDAD Y HERENCIA

Meet Me:

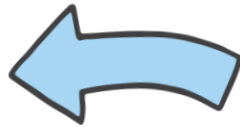

Spanish Native
MOM
Culture Lover
Children's Book Author

I was born in California to Mexican parents, and from the age of one, my family frequently traveled to Mexico. This early exposure to my heritage profoundly shaped my identity and instilled in me a passion for education. Throughout my elementary school years, I was frequently called upon to assist classmates, many of whom were English learners or Spanish speakers. These experiences solidified my aspiration to become a teacher.

I pursued higher education in Colorado, where I earned a Bachelor's degree in Spanish and another in Criminal Justice. I also hold a Master's degree in Curriculum and Instruction, as well as certifications in teaching Heritage Speakers, IB, AVID, AP Spanish Language and Culture, and AP Spanish Literature and Culture. Additionally, I have certifications in various fields such as medical interpreting, which, while not directly related to teaching, they have enhanced my skills as an educator and resource creator.

My work is always designed with students in mind, particularly those who, like me, are heritage speakers. I am a Children's book writer. My books focus on promoting bilingualism, neurodivergency and my culture. I am deeply passionate about my culture and take great pride in incorporating it into my educational materials. I hope you find my resources as valuable and enriching as I intended them to be.
